JUNETEENTH UNITYFEST EVENT

The star-studded event will be live streamed globally on June 19

Sponsors include EBONY, the official media partner and LiveXLive, the official streaming partner

May 19, 2021 – The Robert Randolph Foundation is excited to present Juneteenth Unityfest, the first-ever national event that provides a platform to unite a coalition of charitable grassroots organizations bringing together diverse voices in commemoration and celebration. This live streamed event to be held on June 19, 2021, from 5:00pm EST to approximately 9:00pm EST, will feature musical performances, inspiring remarks, films, comedy, storytelling, and appearances by civic leaders and influencers. This multi-city event celebrates the breadth and depth of Black culture and Juneteenth as a uniquely American experience.

The inaugural Juneteenth Unityfest will include musical performances by Robert Randolph, Aloe Blacc, Bebe Winans, Black Pumas, Darius Rucker, Earth, Wind & Fire, Judith Hill, Phony Ppl, Khruangbin, Michael Franti, Dave Matthews and Carter Beauford, Jimmie Allen, Keb' Mo' and Nile Rodgers & CHIC among many others. Actress and author Amanda Seales and comedian JB Smoove will serve as hosts for the program. There will also be appearances by Phylicia Rashad, Billy Porter, Jon Hamm, Van Jones, Wayne Brady, Aisha Tyler, Craig Robinson, Zach Galifianakis and more. Celebrities will appear live from across the country, streaming from various hubs of Black culture and creativity, including New York, New Orleans, Nashville and Los Angeles.

Juneteenth Unityfest is the brainchild of Grammy-nominated African-American artist Robert Randolph, whose goal is to produce a multicultural experience that unites people of all backgrounds while amplifying the many narratives of the Black experience in America. Randolph, The Robert Randolph Foundation, and the Juneteenth Unityfest team also recognize the importance of bringing awareness to Juneteenth as a holiday and helping people understand its significance in American history. When the last of the country's enslaved people were made aware of the Emancipation Proclamation on June 19, 1865, it signaled a changing tide. Today, we have the opportunity to change the tide again through this nationwide event that will serve as a reflective and celebratory catalyst to continue to drive inclusive cultures that strengthen the social fabric of America.

"While Juneteenth, the holiday, marks the symbolic end of slavery in America, our goal is for Juneteenth Unityfest to represent the accomplishments of Black people in the United States," says Robert Randolph, founder of the Robert Randolph Foundation. "Through this celebration, our mission is for Juneteenth to serve as an occasion to remember the past, acknowledge our progression and take collective action towards creating a 'more perfect union' for all Americans."

"The Juneteenth Unityfest is bringing a diverse group of people together to commemorate this significant day and the importance of Black culture and Black history," said Antong Lucky, co-chair of Heal America and president of Urban Specialists. "This is much more than a celebration – it's an opportunity to educate and learn. It is a time to come together, heal, grow and embrace the bright future we will have if we focus on what unites us rather than what divides us. That's what it means to heal America, and everyone has a role to play."

Juneteenth Unityfest is made possible by phenomenal sponsors and partners, including EBONY as the official media partner and LiveXLive as the official streaming partner. Through LiveXLive, the stream will also be accessible via LiveXLive's distribution platform on STIRR, SLING, AppleTV, and its social media channels including YouTube, Facebook, Twitter, Twitch and TikTok. The inaugural event has also aligned itself with incredible community partners to ensure historical accuracy and authenticity, including Heal America, The Rock & Roll Hall of Fame, We Are Family Foundation, The National Juneteenth Observance Foundation, Unity Unlimited, Inc., Umoja Events Juneteenth NYC Festival, African American Museum in Philadelphia, Benedict College, Muhammad Ali Center and more. Many other community organizations have aligned with the event to further tell their stories of unity and progress.
